

Do you have a Retirement Income Strategy?

Canadians are faced with new realities that pose significant challenges to traditional retirement planning. Many Canadians are retiring earlier and living longer than ever. Currently, the average retirement age in Canada is age 62. With many living into their 90s, bridging that gap can be extremely challenging.

Each Canadian must take charge of his or her own retirement. Join us to learn how you can provide a secure and predictable stream of income so YOU can take charge of YOUR retirement.

You are invited to attend our exclusive presentation on How to Guarantee Your Income for Life.
